

Community Day at Citrus Draws Key Leaders

By Elizabeth Moran

Last Friday, the Citrus College Foundation sponsored Community Day at Citrus College, the first of two for this academic year. This special event originated during the college centennial celebration as a way to showcase our exceptional students, programs and services to various community leaders.

On September 30, community members took a campus tour and heard presentations from several college staff. Dr. Geraldine Perri, superintendent/president, shared the 2016-2021 Strategic Plan booklet and discussed the key components of the plan, including the one overarching institutional goal: Increase Student Success and Completion.

Additional areas showcased during Community Day at Citrus include STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering & Math), IFC (Institute for Completion), the Veteran's Success Center, CTE (Career Technical Education), the Haugh Performance Arts Center, and facilities.
